SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

In this case report and review, Zhang et al presented a rare case of superior mesenteric venous thrombosis in kidney transplant recipients. The authors have presented good reviews on this topic. I have few comments below.

1. I guess this case is not related to kidney transplantation, as it has occurred more than 3 years after transplant, title of this case report and review of the literature is deceiving – as I was hoping to see more of the literature search about this topic in kidney transplant recipients based on the title. However, most of the data are about non-transplant recipients – consider modifying the title or adding more literature in kidney transplant recipients
2. Please mention who was involved in the care/surgery? Were transplant providers included?
3. Avoid using the brand name of the medication- eg. Betaloc
4. Would present the progress of labs in table or graph, mainly for the WBC, serum creatinine, and lactate level.
