SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Authors present two interesting cases of DCIS with fibroadenoma, the cases are well described and addressed. Some points need to be addressed on discussion: - Why patient 1 was treated with adjuvant radiotherapy? What were the clinical and or pathological factors that lead to that treatment? What cases radiotherapy should be indicated to DCIS? - Both patients are extremally young, the authors should discuss possibilities of germline testing in both, and the possible findings (i.e BRCA...) , and if genetic counseling was addressed to both patients. - Do the authors consider treatment with adjuvant tamoxifen in this cases? What cases it should be indicated?
