

Dear reviewer 1,

Thank you very much for reviewing our manuscript. According to your suggestion a) c) d), we have made the following supplement. Please review it again. However, for recommendation b), we refer to the manuscript format provided by this magazine, please understand. Thank you again for your suggestions, which will be the details I will pay attention to in my future work and the ladder to make me a better doctor.

Dear Natalia stepanova,

Thank you very much for your review of our manuscript. In response to your proposal, 1) in China's grass-roots hospitals, many patients are farmers, who are subject to poor medical compliance due to the low proportion of medical insurance reimbursement and the lack of medical knowledge. Therefore, most of the patients with stage 5 chronic kidney disease we received were complicated with acute complications such as heart failure and serious gastrointestinal symptoms such as vomiting, Just started renal replacement therapy, just like our patient. 2) We considered that the symptoms of abdominal pain were related to surgical emergency and intestinal dysfunction, so it was not significantly related to painkillers. Thank you again for your suggestions, which will be the details I pay attention to in my future work and the ladder to make me a better doctor.
