

Dear Editor-in-Chief:

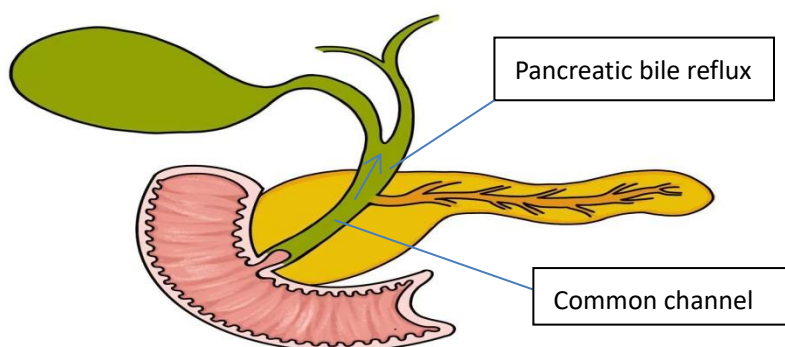

Thank you for your letter for additional comments concerning our manuscript entitled “Application of Imaging Techniques in Pancreaticobiliary Maljunction” (ID: 75364). Those comments are all valuable and very helpful for revising and improving our paper, as well as the important guiding significance to our researches. We have studied comments carefully and have made corrections point by point to the comments. We hope that the revised manuscript is more acceptable for publication. Thank you for the kind advice.

Yours sincerely,

Jin-Ye Wang

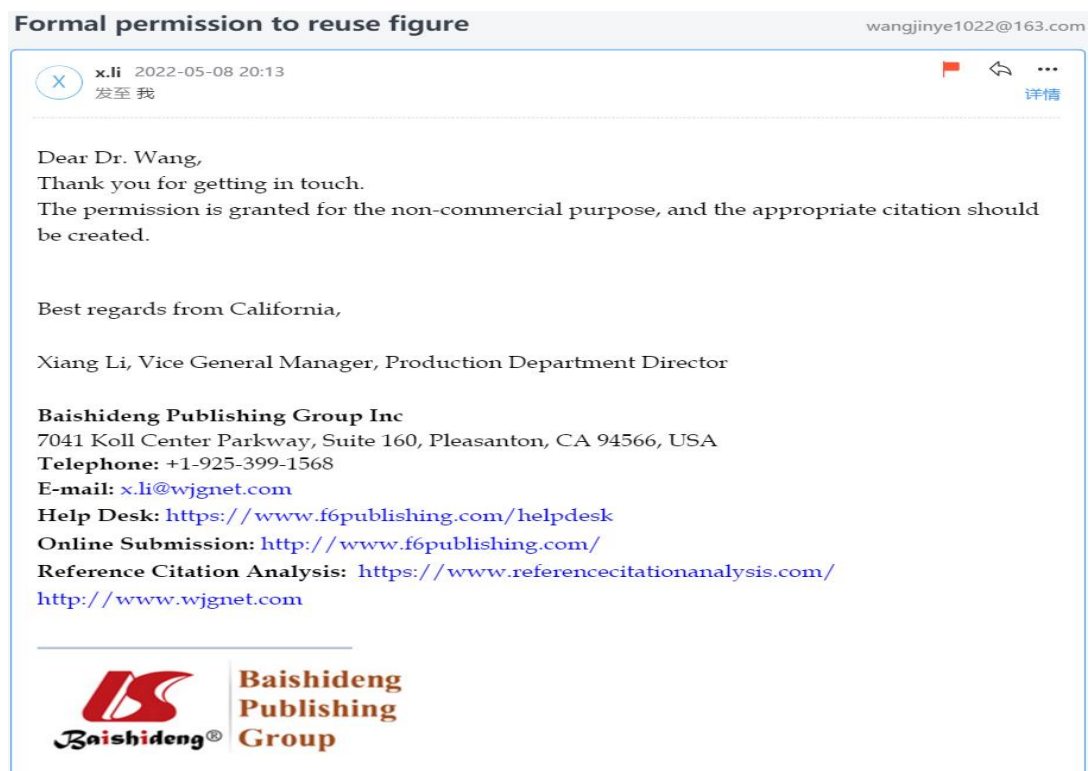

In response to your suggestion, we make the following modifications:

1. Figure 1 we decided to change the figure for copyright reasons. The new figure is as follows:

AJR PERMISSION

The American Journal of Roentgenology is a peer-reviewed journal of diagnostic imaging and related sciences. Please ensure that you are using the correct version of the journal and issue number. If you intend to use the journal for commercial purposes, please contact the American Medical Association for permission. If you are using the journal for personal use, please note that the journal is not available for reproduction in any form without the permission of the American Medical Association.
