

Non-Native Speakers of English Editing Certificate

To whom it may concern,

We herein certify that the manuscript entitled “Glypican-1 positive exosomes are elevated in pancreatic cancer precursor lesions and can signal genetic predisposition in absence of endoscopic ultrasound abnormalities” was reviewed and edited by Prof. Dr. Sónia Melo, who has extensive expertise in English language usage, having worked for more than 5 years in research in the United States and having published 41 papers in English through her career.

We would like to assure that after the manuscript is accepted for peer review and before publication, we will then use language editing services for proofreading and editing our manuscript for English language usage and, thus, provide the required language editing certificate.

Should you require any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Sónia Melo, PhD

Medical Faculty of the University of Porto, Porto, Portugal

Instituto de Investigação e Inovação em Saúde (i3S), University of Porto, Porto, Portugal

e-mail: smelo@ipatimup.pt