

We are very grateful to Reviewers for reviewing the paper so carefully, and we have carefully considered the suggestion of Reviewers and make some changes.

Responds to the reviewer #1 :

We appreciate it very much for your good suggestions, and we have done it according to your ideas. We supplemented the latest literature on Pubmed and Medline, with a total of 4 articles involving 4 cases, which we have included in the article. At the same time, we have established a clinical management pathway based on your suggestions. Thanks again for your valuable advice !

Responds to the reviewer #2 :

We are so grateful to you for reviewing our paper. I have to admit your opinion that our article had limited clinical significance, but I don't think our article doesn't make sense to be published. Idiopathic rice-bodies bursitis of the wrist joint is a very rare disease that needs to be differentiated from mycobacterial infection, rheumatoid arthritis, because the treatment and prognosis of the latter are very different. Therefore, we collected relevant literature, summarized the clinical features of wrist synovitis with rice bodies, and provided a clinical management pathway. I will be very happy if our explanation can be agreed with you. Thanks again!
