Has the patient been given radiotherapy? There are many other studies in the literature on this subject, and I do not think that this study will make an additional contribution to the literature.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

In this manuscript, the authors reported a case of synchronous gastric cancer complicated with chronic myeloid leukemia (multiple primary cancers). The manuscript is clearly presented and interesting. However, there are several concerns regarding this case reports that the authors need to clarify. Listed below are my specific comments.

1. I think this gastric cancer has a diffuse infiltration type (type IV). I don't think it's type III. I think that the part of ulceration was only partially destroyed and surfaced. According to endoscopic images, the stomach was not inflated all around by insufflation. If not, I think you should present the endoscopic images of well-inflated stomach.
2. Isn't the author's facility performing endoscopy for screening? Unless you have a very urgent need to start treatment, I think it is essential to use endoscopic examination to screen gastrointestinal tract. As you know, lymphoma is derived from the digestive tract, and EB virus / Helicobacter pylori infection has some genetic influence. This case probably presents an image of scirrhus gastric cancer, and I think that endoscopy did not improve the prognosis. The discussion explains the need for CT, but isn't that enough? I think it is better to describe the possible measures of the author a little deeper with reference to other literature.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Comments to the Author; Manuscript title: Synchronous gastric cancer complicated with chronic myeloid leukemia (multiple primary cancers): a case report and literature review ID: 78515 Re-review Dear Author; Thanks for submitting such a case for publication to the World journal of clinical cases. I appreciate you and hope your case to be published. Comments: 1. The case still needs revision in terms of professional and languages issues As an example - Introduction: Later, the patient's condition rapidly progressed. He developed colonic obstruction and underwent ostomy; however, he died six months after the initial diagnosis (needs to be understandable). - Discussion: The patient in this case is a middle-aged man from a rural area who self-reported that he had no bad living habits. (the case reported in the past but described in the present....needs grammatical revision). - Discussion: interval of 36 mo?? So you need to review all the manuscript and revise that carefully. 2. Describe the surgical procedure in a small paragraph 3. There were no figures. I hope you revise as needed as this is not a big issue and you will make it ready for publication this time. Wish you all the best.
