I, Milaydis Sosa Napolskij, declare that I am fluent in and understand English. To the best of my knowledge and experience as a qualified translator of English, Portuguese, and Spanish, terminologist in the Health Sciences, and specialist in Language Sciences, specifically in Human Language Technology, the article “The relation between COVID-19 with liver diseases and its impact on healthcare systems: the Portuguese case”, written and reviewed directly in English by the four authors, is clear, correct, and shows the writing style of the field and of academic English.
