JOURNAL EDITOR-IN-CHIEF (ASSOCIATE EDITOR) COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Although this is a mini review, the data presented in the review will not only help the researchers in England, Wales but also UK itself in order to understand the trend of the prevalence of type 2 diabetes in young children and make their research plan accordingly. This will also help to understand the type of treatment and target parameters and their outcome which may help future patients to manage their diabetes better by using insulin injection or insulin pump.
