

Institutional review board statement: The research experiment only addresses the validation of cancer cell expression at the in vitro level, and does not involve human or animal related studies, therefore no Institutional Review Board approval form or document is applicable.