

1. Please re-check units of WBC, RBC and platelet counts for typo errors.

We have re-checked the white blood cell, red blood cell and platelet count units and have corrected them.

2. Is it too soon to call your case "not recurrent" after just a four months follow up?

The patient was followed up for more than 7 months, and no signs of recurrence were observed.

3. I recommend that authors could be more specific about "follow up" tool. Is that a CT scan?

Routine blood tests, biochemical analyses, tumor marker assessments, and chest and abdominal CT scans were performed in an outpatient setting on November 20, 2023, revealing no evidence of recurrence.

4. I suggest that authors should check and conform to the format of the targeted journal.

We have checked and conformed to the format of the targeted journal.
