

Language certificate

The manuscript has been extensively reviewed to address typos and grammar/syntax. The corresponding author has been an associate professor at the University of Cincinnati for 14 years, besides being a principal investigator on multiple NIH grants. Earlier, he graduated from the University of Strathclyde (Glasgow) for his PhD and was a visiting scientist there. He has edited 11 books with top Publishers in the world. i.e., Springer Nature, etc. He has over 335 publications (Research papers, narrative and systematic reviews, book chapters, abstracts, etc. He is also on the Editorial Boards of multiple prestigious journals, including WJSC. However, regarding the suggestion to use English Editor, besides extensive revision, we have requested the English language department at Sulaiman AlRajhi University for a second opinion by a native English instructor before submission. I thank you for your understanding.