

Informed consent statement

Informed consent was waived by the IRB due to the retrospective nature of the analysis using information contained in medical charts and records, which were anonymized.