Splenic artery aneurysm presenting as a submucosal gastric lesion: A case report

Tannoury J et al. Splenic artery aneurysm

Jenny Tannoury, Khalil Honein, Bassam Abboud

Abstract

We are reporting the rare case of splenic artery aneurysm of 4 cm of diameter presenting as a sub mucosal lesion on gastro-duodenal endoscopy. This aneurysm was treated by endovascular coil embolization and stent graft implantation. The procedure was uneventful. On day 1, the patient presented an acute severe epigastric pain and cardiovascular arrest. Abdominal computed tomography scan showed an active leak of
