The manuscript has been improved according to the suggestions of reviewers:

1 Format has been updated

2 Revision has been made according to the suggestions of the reviewer

This paper describes an unusual clinical case study of the hip that has been diagnosed / analysed with a variety of synergistic imaging techniques. The paper offers insight as to how similar (rare) cases could be approached in the future. As such, the case study is worthy of publication and is of interest to WHO readers. The figures need improving however - they should be collated properly ready for publication as 1 figure rather than a collection of images per figure and black arrow on white background is needed for clarity.

Response: Thank you. The figures have been collated as 1 figure. Black arrows have been added in Figure 4 over white background for more clarity
