SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The article is within the scope of the journal. It is well written and easy to read. The described proposal is original and represents an advance in the area of knowledge.

However, the article to be accepted must be improved in some aspects: a) The introduction and the state of the art on the subject matter should be improved. b) The discussion section needs to be improved. In this section, the results obtained with other similar works should be compared, describing the advantages and disadvantages of the proposal. For this, references to other similar works should be used. c) In the conclusions section, the synthetic presentation of the scientific results obtained should be improved.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

1.The authors mentioned in Methods of Abstract that the electronic databases include Gray literature, however, disappeared in Methods of main article, right? Also I am wondering which data is coming from Gray literature? 2.In my view, in Figure 1, the title of Bariatric Endoscopy should be added to all three sections or not. 3.More references should be listed to make the data more accurate, such as the edge of the GJA that APC can performed. 4.In this article, the authors list some applications of endoscopic technology in weight loss, but the discussion and conclusion focus on describing the complications of weight loss surgery, which needs multidisciplinary cooperation and better medical team. Therefore, I think more obvious causality and evidence are needed to draw the above conclusions.
