COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This is an interesting paper for the clinical practice. Sergio Conti et al. reported that ES was an "extreme" ventricular arrhythmia affecting ICD patients with structural heart disease and was a major predictor of cardiac death in the short-term follow-up. They also reported that CA for the treatment of ES was particularly promising and should be considered the elective form of treatment to achieve long-term rhythm stabilization and to prevent heart failure. Overall the paper appears to be carefully examined and data adequately discussed. I suggest that this paper has the priority to be published in WJC. I have a few comments to make. 1) "cardiomiopathy" >>> "cardiomyopathy" (page4 , line 21) 2) "anesthesiological" >>> "anesthesiology" (page10 , line 6)

All the abbreviations should be defined, like ATP or DC Figures are very useful, but they require author and/or journal permission
