Review for the manuscript No. 23150. Title: Appropriate treatment strategy for hepatocellular carcinoma patients with portal vein tumor thrombus invaded into the main trunk of portal vein auhtors: Hai-Hong Ye et al. In this interesting manuscript, the Ye et al explored the proper treatments for hepatocellular carcinoma patients associated with portal vein tumor thrombus invading in the main trunk of the portal vein. About 418 hepatocellular carcinoma patients were included in this study. The overall survival rates of those patients were determined. And the risk factors for survival were identified. The results were well discussed and the conclusion is reasonable. After some minor language polishing, this manuscript can be published.
