COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The manuscript is very well structured and is very easy to read and therefore find the content very interesting. The title accurately reflect the major topic and content of the study and the text provide a clear delineation of the background, objectives, and conclusions of the review. However, a major mistake is found in the references section. The same reference is repeated many times with different numbers. This is not the style in any journal I know. In fact, in my opinion there are few references. For any of the subjects the authors are talking about, more and novelty published articles will support better the conclusions of the manuscript as well as help to the readers of the manuscript interested in those particular subjects. Minor point: a few typographical mistakes, such as some commas, etc should be checked.
