COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This review provided by Ye et al., described the basic pathophysiological mechanisms and clinical perspectives of DILI. This is a very well-written review article with in-depth analysis of known knowledge. I only have two minor suggestions: 1. In the first paragraph of the INTRODUCTION, the incidence/prevalence/death rate of DILI all over the world, particularly in the European countries, should be described. If necessary, a table containing those information of major countries (e.g. US, UK, Germany, France, Spain, China, Japan) can be included; 2. Several minor formatting errors and typos should be corrected;

This is a nice review with abundant updated findings and references. I found minor points to be corrected before publication. 1. Page 10, line 1: "investigate" should be corrected to "investigated". 2. Figure 1: "OH" is out of alignment (without yellow rectangles).
