

14565-Review
BY CRISTINA-SORINA CĂȚANĂ

Quotes Included
Bibliography Included

2%
SIMILAR

Name of journal: World Journal of Gastroenterology
ESPS Manuscript NO: 14565
Columns: Review

Contribution of the IL-17/IL-23 Axis to the Pathogenesis of Inflammatory Bowel Disease

Cristina-Sorina Cătană, Ioana Berindan Neagoe, Vasile Cozma, Cristian Magdaș, Flaviu Tăbăran, Dan Lucian Dumitrașcu

Abstract

Inflammatory bowel diseases (IBDs) are chronic disorders of modern society, requiring management strategies aimed at prolonging an active life and establishing the exact etiology and pathogenesis. These idiopathic diseases have environmental, genetic, immunologic, inflammatory, and oxidative stress components. On the one hand, recent advances have shown

Match Overview

- 1 CrossCheck 61 words 1%
Geremia, Alessandra, Paolo Biancheri, Philip Allan, Gino R. Corazza, and Antonio Di Sabatino. "Innate and adaptive i ...
- 2 CrossCheck 58 words 1%
Alessandra Geremia. "The IL-23/IL-17 pathway in inflamr ... atory bowel disease", Expert Review of Gastroenterology a