Clinical Trials Study

Expanding the view of a standard colonoscope with the third eye® panoramic™ Cap

Moshe Rubin, Leigh Lurie, Konika Bose, Sang H Kim

Abstract

AIM: To evaluate a new imaging device for colonoscopy that adds two side viewing CMOS lenses, the Third Eye® Panoramic™ cap.

METHODS: In this prospective observational feasibility study, 33 patients, 18 male and 15 female, underwent routine screening, surveillance or diagnostic colonoscopy with the new Third Eye® Panoramic™ cap clipped on to the distal tip of a high definition Fuji EC530-LS Slim Colonoscope®. All procedures were performed at the New York Presbyterian-Queens Endoscopy unit by two experienced endoscopists (MR and SHK). Main outcome measurements included evaluation of the image quality of the Third Eye® Panoramic™ cap, adenoma detection rate, cecal intubation rate, withdrawal time and total procedure time.
