Antiviral therapy of hepatitis C as curative treatment of indolent B-cell lymphoma

Michele Merli, Giuseppe Carli, Luca Arcaini, Carlo Visco

Abstract

The association of hepatitis C virus (HCV) and B-cell non-Hodgkin lymphomas (NHL) has been highlighted by several epidemiological and biological insights; however the most convincing evidence is represented by interventional studies demonstrating the capability of antiviral treatment (AT) with interferon (IFN) with or without ribavirin to induce the regression of indolent lymphomas, especially of marginal-zone origin. In the largest published retrospective study (100 patients) the
