Abstract

BACKGROUND

BKL Walawalkar Hospital situated near village of Dervan in KOKAN region of the state of Maharashtra. A survey of 2200 surrounding villages showed 51.8% adults had BMI below $<18.5 \text{ kg/m}^2$ and only 4.5% were overweight. A survey 11,521 adolescent girls from rural schools showed 64% prevalence of thinness. In the same region Government survey reported the prevalence of diabetes around 7% and 70% prevalence of leanness. This reinforced the fact that overall population of KOKAN is
