Laparoscopic right-sided colonic resection with transluminal colonoscopic specimen extraction

Cuneyt Kayaalp, Koray Kutluturk, Mehmet Ali Yagci, Mustafa Ates

Abstract

AIM: To study the transcolonic extraction of the proximally resected colonic specimens by colonoscopic assistance at laparoscopic colonic surgery.

METHODS: The diagnoses of our patients were Crohn's disease, carcinoid of appendix and adenocarcinoma of cecum. We preferred laparoscopic total mesocolic resections. Colon and terminal ileum were divided with endoscopic staplers. A colonoscope was placed per anal and moved proximally in the colon till to reach the
