Immunology of hepatocellular carcinoma

Meenakshi Sachdeva, Yogesh K Chawla, Sunil K Arora

Abstract

Hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC), is primarily a malignancy of liver, advancing from a damaged, cirrhotic liver to HCC. Globally, HCC is the sixth most prevalent cancer and the third-most reason of neoplastic disease-related deaths. A diverse array of infiltrating immunocytes just like in many other cancers also regulates the development and progression of HCC. An understanding of various immune
