5 Impairment of aspirin antiplatelet effects by non-opioid analgesic medication

7 Amin Polzin, Thomas Hohlfeld, Malte Kelm, Tobias Zeus

9 Abstract

10 Aspirin is the mainstay in prophylaxis of cardiovascular diseases. Impaired aspirin 11 antiplatelet effects are associated with enhanced incidence of cardiovascular events.
12 Comedication with non-opioid analgesic drugs has been described to interfere with 13 aspirin, resulting in impaired aspirin antiplatelet effects. Additionally, non-opioid 14 analgesic medication has been shown to enhance the risk of cardiovascular events
15 and death. Pain is very frequent and many patients rely on analgesic drugs to control 16 pain. Therefore effective analgesic options without increased risk of cardiovascular
