Adjuvant chemotherapy for rectal cancer - is it needed?

Kristijonas Milinis, Michael Thornton, Amir Montazeri, Paul S Rooney

Abstract

Adjuvant chemotherapy has become a standard treatment of advanced rectal cancer in the west. The benefits of adjuvant chemotherapy after surgery alone have been well established. However, controversy surrounds the use of adjuvant chemotherapy in patients who received preoperative chemoradiotherapy, despite it being recommended by a number of international guidelines. Results of recent multicentre randomised control trials showed no benefit of adjuvant chemotherapy in terms of survival and
