Collagen vascular disease-associated interstitial lung disease

Christine L Vigeland, Maureen R Horton

Abstract

Interstitial lung disease is an important manifestation of collagen vascular diseases. It is a common feature of scleroderma, and also occurs in dermatomyositis and polymyositis, mixed connective tissue disease, Sjogren's syndrome, rheumatoid arthritis, systemic lupus erythematosus, and ANCA-associated vasculitis. When present, it is associated with increased morbidity and mortality, thus making early diagnosis important. In fact, in many patients,
