

Biostatistics Review Certificate

Our article is a case series study with a small number of patients. This may be included in the observational study, but it is basically a descriptive study, and unlike the cohort study, case control study, and cross-sectional study, there are no parts within our paper that require statistical analysis, so Biostatistics Review does not applicable.

Makoto Saito