

The requirement for informed consent was waived due to the retrospective nature of the study and its observational design.