

Patients included in the study did not undergo any intervention.
The study was an interventional study.

The local hospital ethics committee was informed.