

Waiver of informed consent for human study subjects was applied as this was a minimal risk research study involving only retrospective chart review.