

The requirement for patients' informed consent for this study was waived due to its retrospective nature.