

Individual consent was not required as the data used were secondary, collected from the Ministry of health west Kordofan data center.