

The National Inpatient Sample (NIS) database conforms to the definition of limited dataset and does not contain any patient identifiers. Therefore, it does not require review by institutional review board.