|----|--|-----|
| 17 | information for the study. Only the most relevant and current (within the past                 | ı   |
|    | 5 years) literature is cited, with the exception of rare instances of seminal                  |     |
|    | literature citations. All technical terms and/or abbreviations are explained                   |     |
|    | and/or defined, with the full name of abbreviations given upon first                           |     |
|    | appearance in the text and the abbreviation presented in parentheses [i.e.,                    | [Y] |
|    | "computed tomography (CT)"]. First-person pronouns (e.g., 'I', 'we') are                       |     |
|    | used appropriately to clearly indicate the work performed by the author(s).                    |     |
|    | When weaknesses of previous studies are described in the text to highlight the                 |     |
|    | innovations related to the current study, the information is presented                         |     |
|    | carefully.   |     |
|    | The 'MATERIALS AND METHODS' section clearly and accurately describes                           |     |
| 18 | all materials and methods used to obtain the data presented in the article and                 | [N] |
|    | is adequate for a reader to repeat the study.  |     |
|    | The 'RESULTS' section concisely describes the observational and experimental                   |     |
|    | results. Representative data and data that have scientific significance are                    |     |
| 19 | emphasized. Data is presented in either the text, a table or figure (i.e., chart,              | [N] |
| 19 | diagram, graph or image), but is not repeated among each. Information                          |     |
|    | presented in the tables and figures clearly describes the trends, meaning, and                 |     |
|    | inferences. Results described in textual form are accurate, concise and clear.                 |     |
|    | The order and numerical labeling of tables and figures is consistent with their                |     |
| 20 | appearance and presentation in the text. Symbols in tables (e.g., +, -, $\times$ , $\div$ , *) |     |
|    | correctly correspond to the definitions in the footnotes. Only one legend is                   |     |
|    | white graphs, or line graphs that depicts data of the same theme. For example:                 |     |

| Statistical symbols are accurate. Statistical significance is expressed as *P<0.05, *P<0.01 (P>0.05 usually does not need to be denoted). If there are other series of P values, *P<0.05 and *P<0.01 are used, and a third series of P values is expressed as *P<0.05 and *P<0.01. Statistical data is expressed as mean ± SD or mean ± SE.  The *CDISCUSSION' section (1) describes the main purpose and hypothesis of the study; (2) summarizes the most important results; (3) illustrates and explains the results (but does not simply repeat the data) and draws conclusions or inferences based on the results; (4) points out the limitations of the study and their impact on the results, as well as proposes further advice on future research topic(s) or direction(s); and (5) describes the theoretical significance and practical value of the findings.  The *ACKNOWLEDGMENTS' section expresses gratitude to any individuals or organizations for technical support (i.e., providing instrumentation, equipment or experimental materials, and/or assistance in experimental work), non-technical services (i.e., useful inspiration, suggestions, guidance, or review), and/or any other auxiliary work.  The *COMMENTS' section provides comments for original articles in accordance with the specified format.  The CREFERENCES' section lists the references in the Vancouver style. For citations where no author is indicated, a superscript number should be placed at the end of the sentence. Respective examples are: "Ma   11 reported", "Pan et al   2-3  indicated"; "PCR has a high sensitivity   6-3 ." No superscript numbers are used when the reference number is described in reference [8]."
