Subject: Papers you are publishing with biostatistical support - please read

Dear Folks,

For the past several years, the Harvard Digestive Disease Center has provided support for our biostats team (in addition to support from PIs, Centers, and the Division).

Since all NIH support needs to be publicly noted and acknowledged, going forward can you please list support from the HDDC (NIH/ NIDDK, 5 P30 DK34854) on all papers in which Enju Liu or Paul Mitchell are listed as co-authors?

Of course your other sources of support need to be listed and acknowledged too. Support from the NIH needs to be part of author information when submitting a paper; if you have not done this previously, please see the following website for help: <https://publicaccess.nih.gov/index.htm>

Thanks,
Chris
