SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

It is an interesting, updated and well-written case report. The authors discussed exhaustively the risk factors to develop a drug induced anaphylactic shock and it was very interesting to read the discussion about re-introducing or not camrelizumab after this serious adverse event. However, the authors don't tell about what they did specifically in this case. If they switch immunotherapy, which drug was chosen? And how did it go? Did they used some pre-medication?
