SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Overall, this case presented by the authors is regarding sacral vertebral hemangiomas with interesting atypical radiographic appearances and recurrence after 6 month status-post operation. It is well written and has utility to serve the general medical audience and radiology community. The following of potential minor revision for consideration: In the History of Present Illness, the authors reports no past medical history. While this serves the point, it may be to the readers best interest if this can be further expanded upon while remaining concise. For example, explicitly state the medication history, family history, previous surgical history (none, but please state it as well). Please expand the physical examination. Pertinent MSK was included, but it may be to the readers best interest if the exam is elaborated with the comprehensive MSK, if performed Grammatical spacing required in Line 127: "VHs.The".....add space between period and "The" Discussion is well written and concise to the focus of the manuscript
