SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Thank you for inviting me to read this manuscript. This case report described two patients who developed pulmonary hypersensitivity induced by furazolidone treatment for H. pylori infection. As the authors claimed, there are three cases reported in the medical literature. However, this current case is induced by furazolidone treatment for H. pylori infection. I have two comments:

- Please, the title could include that these patients have H. pylori infection. This is the main difference from the other case reports published.
- Please, the Naranjo Adverse Drug Reaction Probability Scale score must be briefly described.
