COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This is a well written case report. The case is of interest for the general surgeon. The description of the findings on physical examination is somewhat confusing; "On examination, the patient was clearly in...". Please rewrite

COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Thank you for submitting your manuscript entitled "Cecal Bascule Herniation into the Lesser Sac" to the World Journal of Gastrointestinal Surgery. The disease is uncommon but the case is described in a simple way without new scientific contributions. There are points of discussion or consideration for the readers neither about diagnosis nor treatment and several cases on cecal bascule have already been reported in the Literature exhaustively. For these reasons, in my opinion, the work unfortunately can't be accepted.
