COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Commendable effort. Much needed analysis to establish the position of WJG in the field of gastroenterology and hepatology. Please consider some language and grammar changes. I would suggest using "indices" in place of "indexes".

COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

In this interesting paper authors performed analyses involving several journals of gastroenterology. All aspects of comparison are presented sufficiently. Statistical analysis of the study made clear and demonstrate that WJG has developed into one of the important journals to the field of gastroenterology. References should be cited according to the rules and formats established by the instructions to authors.
