COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Thrombocytopenia is an infrequent, but well-known, complication of several viral infections including EBV, mumps, varicella, HIV, Cytomegalovirus and hepatitis. In this manuscript, the authors reported a case of man which presented with migrated bellyache in the right lower quadrant, with no history of hematological system diseases. This case is very interesting. Some minor revisions needed. 1 The manuscript need editing according to the journal's format. 2 Language polishing should be corrected. 3 Reference list should be updated.
