This is a very nice review paper deling on the role of SPET/CT imaging in edocrine tumors (parathyroid adenoma; thyroid cancer; neuroendocrine tumor; pheochromocytoma; paraganglioma). The paper in well conducted, timely, and of sure interest for the radiologic and nuclear medicine communities.

COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The manuscript by Wong et al on "Radionuclide imaging of endocrine disorders with Fusion Spect/CT: combining form and Function" is well written review except authors have not given due respect to bibliography (half hazardly written). SPECT/CT technology section needs to be rewritten as if written for lay public without any technical aspect, for readers it is fraustating and below expected standard. Too many repeatitions, needs to be pruned.
