

1. In the abstract, diagnosis, line 1, we suggest specifying abbreviation HE.

We have specified abbreviation HE.

2. What is the rate cure of the treatment conservative?

We have consulted the relevant literature, however, there was no research reported that clearly indicates the cure rate of conservative treatment, however, it has been reported that 6 patients received conservative treatment after the exclusion of malignant tumor, and all the intravascular nodules eventually disappeared. Due to the characteristics of such as aggressiveness and rapid growth, endovascular fasciitis is often misdiagnosed as malignant tumor. Therefore, once the mass is found, surgical treatment is often given priority, and even if conservative treatment is adopted, the disease is relatively rare and the follow-up rate is low, an exact conservative treatment cure rate cannot be obtained.

3. We suggest that the authors get literature review at last three years.

We have basically reviewed all relevant literature and tried our best to achieve literature review at last three years.
