Specific Comments to Authors: In this case report, the authors reported the non-surgical treatment of a 25-year-old man whom was diagnosed as having lumbar intervertebral disc herniation with traditional Chinese medicine using acupuncture and massage. The paper is interesting. However, two minor concerns are for your consideration. 1. The source of Lornoxicam is encouraged to be added.. 2. Minor editing of English language is recommended.

Response: We thanks very much for the academic editor's expertise. In response to your two questions, 1. We have added the source and origin information of Lornoxicam in the revised draft. 2. We have sought native English speakers to edit and polish the article and provide a language statement.
