Specific Comments to Authors: This is an interesting study of the involvement of clinical pharmacists in the management of carbapenem antibiotics. This study is very well performed and the results are well discussed. After a minor language correction, it can be accepted for publication.

Thank you very much for your comment. I have made minor modifications to the language section of the manuscript. Please review it and wish you all the best in your work!

Specific Comments to Authors: In recent years, the government has issued multiple documents aimed at strengthening the rational use of antimicrobial drugs, which clearly emphasize the need for hospitals to strengthen management and ensure standardized clinical usage of carbapenem antibiotics. In this study, the authors analyzed the utilization patterns of carbapenem antibiotics in our hospital over the past few years and investigate the role of clinical pharmacists in their management and rational use. The study is well designed, and the methods are described in detail. The results are discussed well. Minor comments: 1. The title should be revised, what's the meaning of "our hospital". Please delete this, or replace it with your hospital name. 2. The background in the abstract should be revised. It's not a background, but a summary of the study. Please re-write this section. 3. Please discuss the limit of the study. 4. References should be updated and edited.

1. We have revised the title as per your suggestion

2. We have rewritten the background section of the abstract to be more focused and accurate.
