

Number ID 00529915

It is a well written report of a rare medical condition. However for the sake of completion I shall suggest to include the possible physiological mechanism underlying the "Parkinsonian Features" . Of course, you will include it in the discussion section. Only at one place some correction of the sentence is required and that is where muscle stiffness and speech symptoms are mentioned. Sincerely The Reviewer

Response:

Many thanks for your invaluable instructions! I am truly honored to hear of your appreciation of our work. I have revised the manuscript according to your instructions and have provided responses to your comments and suggestions as follows. Please review these comments and the manuscript for these changes. I am glad and available to respond further to any of additional comments or suggestions you may have.

(1) According to your instructions, I have added the description of possible physiological mechanism underlying the "Parkinsonian Features" in page 7, line 128-134, in the Case Presentation section. Great thanks!

(2) According to your instructions, I have modified the sentence in page 3, line 54-55. Great thanks!

Number ID 00784262

This is a fascinating case history and very informative. Have autopsy findings ever been reported? The English needs some minor adjustments.

Response:

Many thanks for your invaluable instructions! Your insight is extremely helpful and relevant to our work. I have revised the manuscript according to your instructions and have provided responses to your comments and suggestions as follows. Please review these comments and the manuscript for these changes. I am glad and available to respond further to any of additional comments or suggestions you may have.

(1) I'm very sorry no autopsy was performed. I have added the statement in page 8, line 160.

(2) I'm very sorry for the language issues. According to your instructions, I've reviewed the text extensively. Great thanks!