5 EDITORIAL OFFICE'S COMMENTS:

SCIENCE EDITOR:

- As recommended the 6 self-cited references were reduced to include only 3 closely related articles.

- The author contributions section has been included.
- The figures have been updated with correct citations included, given the figures are original images there are no copyright infringements.
- The original pictures have been provided in a single PowerPoint document.
- The figures utilized in Table 1 are not copyrighted and the correct citations have been included.

"You can reuse in your own publication the 2D or 3D structure images presented on PubChem pages, without any special permission from PubChem. Referencing the structure images is done in a similar manner to referencing a data section within a record (as described above). Use the full record URL, followed by the section name suffix, "2D-Structure" or "3D-Conformer"." Citation Guidelines \(nih.gov\)

- The PMID and DOI numbers as well as all authors have been included into the reference list for all references.

Thankyou again for your consideration of this article.

Sincerely,

David Morris
